PRESS RELEASE
17th March 2016

SCOOP AND THE CITY

It's now time to reveal more about the exciting plans for the July 2016 edition of Scoop, when Scoop will be taking a one-off vacation from The Saatchi Gallery and spending the Summer in the City of London.

The Saatchi Gallery is about to become host to what is set to be the most talked about exhibition of the year, Exhibitionism: The Rolling Stones. The first ever showcase dedicated to the career of the ultimate rock n roll band, Exhibitionism will feature over 500 original Stones' artefacts across nine themed galleries and from April through to early September 2016 will be the must-visit show for Rolling Stones fans from across the globe.

So for one season only, we will be taking our own must-visit event to one of London's other iconic venues; Old Billingsgate Market in the heart of the City of London. Rising from the banks of the River Thames just moments from Tower Bridge, this grade two Victorian landmark is already host to some of London's most glittering events; from awards ceremonies, film premieres, red carpet events through to high-end exhibitions and fashion shows.

For the spring/summer 2017 edition of Scoop this already beautiful Old Billingsgate building will be dramatically transformed into the capital's most exciting fashion destination, where a whole new take on Scoop's trademark mix of fashion and art will be mixed with more than a few surprises.

Just seven minutes by tube from Oxford Circus, nine minutes from Kings Cross and 15 minutes from Sloane Square, Old Billingsgate will be the ideal summer residence for the industry's most talked about trade show.

We will be contacting you with further details of this exciting one-of-a-kind event over the next coming months and look forward to welcoming you to 'Scoop and the City' in July this year.

Notes to editors:

SCOOP in the City will be presenting spring/summer 2017.
